

The most important question in my life

I thought it would be interesting to ask myself, which is the most important question of my life. First I thought about things like “Why do we live?” or “Is there any other life in the universe?” That is very interesting. However, it does not relate to me personally, so it cannot be the “question of my life”. After this consideration I thought about my life, and how I like it to be. With that I came to the question:

What is the dream of my life?

There are many questions you can ask yourself to get an answer.

Maybe the first step is to think about the most important persons in your life. For some people it is the family. Others spent their life with unreplaceable friends. Often the partner is most important.

Another aspect is to think about what you want to reach in your life. Today the personal career is very relevant. And do you also want to marry and start a family?

Generally you have to do what is fun. But what do you need for that? Probably other persons and also money. There is a study, which says that people are most happy with a year's salary of 75.000 US Dollars. After this threshold you cannot become happier with more money. Maybe because if you earn more money, you will not have as much time with your friends and family, as you want.

Suppose you are old and you had the life of your dreams. Would you regret anything?

Does it mean you were always happy? Probably not, because sometimes everybody has to work and to do something he does not like. There are always things you cannot control.

In the end there are so many things to do and ways to live, so maybe there is not one perfect life. Furthermore, any action has a good and a bad aspect. If you have strict plans, you will never know if there had been alternatives you had liked more. So you should not make too much plans and just see what will happen.

For myself I have decided the most important is to care for my friends and family.

Furthermore, I want to look for a job with a sufficient salary. However, more important for me is, that it is interesting and gives me as well enough free time to pursue the other important things in life.
